Foreign spinners buy our cotton on the Galveston docks at the same price that we pay, and send us over the finished cotton goods and sell them in our own markets at a lower price than the same goods can be produced for in this country.

Why?

Prices on the local market at the opening to-day showed an improved sentiment, though fractional losses were recorded in the copper shares. Amalgamated was off $\frac{1}{4}$, and Greene Cananea $\frac{1}{4}$. North Butte and Wyandot were unchanged. The slight decline in domestic tin led the foreign tin

In the miscellaneous list the trades were very small and prices were generally unchanged. Few orders were reported and the settlement seemed to be "left slight," with no activity for the professional and room traders.

STREETS BALK AT LOW WAGES

As the result of these difficulties there is certainly to be a marked advance in the contract figures when the bids are submitted again for performing this necessary work for the city.

The commission says that the plan is undoubtedly a desirable one but stipulates in the report that there shall be no grade crossings, that Burder street shall be widened and that the corporation securing the right-of-way be obliged to incur a portion of this cost.

There were rumors that the East Boston Road Company was really a little brother to the Boston & Maine, Boston & Albany and the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroads. It was discovered, however, that the road by a new company would necessitate an extra charge to shippers.

Before the commission, in gist, says: "If this road is built, what is the use of the Boston & Albany?"

Assume just a little suggestion to you. There isn't much time left if you haven't sent in your name as a possible sharer in the $200 gold distribution.

The contest is nearing an end. If you hope to be the BOSTON SUNDAY AMERICAN reader to win the $100 gold prize, send in your name and address today.

If you miss the first prize, you still have the second of $50, or the third of $25 in gold. And, if you miss the first prize you may get one of the five $5 gold pieces.

At all events, it is worth trying for a chance to win a gold piece. Write to the accounting bank form for sending it to the BOSTON SUNDAY AMERICAN.

Now, just no good a chance of it.

PARALYZED, LIES
IN BED 29 YEARS
KENT, Wash., Jan. 10.—To his twenty-nine years in bed, unable to stir, and to bear it all without a murmur, is the fate of William Philip Stephenson, residing in the White River Valley, one mile north of here. In 1853 Stephenson came to Seattle, if he was a butcher, and at the time of his injury, resulting in paralysis, he was employed in Seattle. On that morning he handled eighty quarters of beef.
